

MUDBONE GROWN

Mudbone Grown is a black-owned farm enterprise that promotes inter-generational community-based farming that creates measurable and sustainable environmental, social, cultural, and economic impacts in communities.

FEED'EM FREEDOM FOUNDATION

- Feed'em Freedom Foundation grows out of the work of Mudbone Grown. Our goal has been to always honor our ancestors' wisdom as land stewards, train the next generation of food movement leaders through farming, while building cultural pride that is rooted in food sovereignty.
- We are beginning the planning phase of our Propagating Produce for the People (PPP) Apprenticeship program for Black and justice-impacted youth to gain skills within the green economy through regenerative agricultural operations.
- It is imperative that we invest in youth green workforce development and post incarceration opportunities that nurture culturally resilient community members. Propagating Produce for the People will cultivate diverse youth leadership that are reflections of the communities we serve, bring unique expertise and create transformative change.

To find out more information how you can get involved or donate reach out to info@mudbonegrown.com

